ASOTRECOL: The Struggle Against Transnationals in Colombia

Friday, July 11, 6:30pm

(film starts at 7:00pm)

Unitarian Universalist Center

1187 Franklin Street @ Geary Boulevard

With tactics ranging from hunger strikes with lips stitched shut to a nearly 1,000-day sit-in at the U.S. Embassy, Colombian workers are putting the world's attention on General Motors' treatment of its workers. This film tells the incredible story of an association of injured workers who have taken on one of the most powerful corporations in the world, and have won victories they never thought were possible.

Admission is free / donations appreciated. As usual, popcorn and other refreshments available. For more information please contact: Melvin Starks (415-539-6284) or Larry Danos (415-722-6480).
